

F-2014-00104 - Embryos allowed to perish after coming to the end of the storage period

16 April 2014

Summary of request

The Authority was asked the number of embryos allowed to perish after coming to the end of the storage period.

HFEA response

The current form that the Authority has used to calculate this number was launched in 2009, so this figure is for 2010-2012. The number is calculated from the information as it was reported to the HFEA by UK licensed clinics, and amounts to 10665 embryos.